

The Federal Reserve's plan outlined on Wednesday to shrink its nearly $9 trillion balance sheet will result in a nearly $3 trillion reduction in its record size over the next three years, according to a tally by BofA Global strategists. Finance has encountered an unprecedented crisis.