

Some analysts attributed the tank to macroeconomic uncertainty. Investors have been selling off risky assets, as inflation rises at the fastest pace in 40 years, U.S. finance growth slows and the Federal Reserve tightens its monetary policy, while the Russia-Ukraine war and supply issues persist.